280 St. Thomas * — Railway Inn * In field, F. J. (script). ℞ A large 3 within wreath. Counterstamped G. W. on obv. Good. Brass, 18.

We have ascertained that there is neither a Railway or Railway Hotel at St. Thomas, W. I. We will also state that Mr. Breton has made an unsuccessful attempt to locate this piece at St. Thomas, Ontario. Notwithstanding this, we incline to the opinion that the piece belongs to one of the St. Thomas's in Canada, as both are on railways established for many years; however, a suburb of Madras, India, enjoys the same name, and has many English residents.

60 281 Montreal. Francis Mullins & Son. Ship r. Commerce — Token. Æ. Good, scarce.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

One of the crying evils, and the one most difficult to guard against, so far as the innocent purchaser is concerned, is the sale of imitation Coins and Medals. We have long regarded this practice as prejudicial to the best interests of Numismatics, and have in furtherance of this view, rigidly excluded them from our stock; but the boldness and frequency with which these base deceptions have been, of late, offered in trade, have induced us to a still more rigorous determination in the matter; and we therefore now announce that we shall neither buy nor sell nor hold, either for our own account or on account of another, any counterfeit Coin or Medal by whatsoever process made; nor any altered or plated pieces even where the latter may be struck from the true dies, if plated to imitate an original.

And we furthermore take occasion to express our entire disapproval of restrikes, a subsequent use of the dies after original striking, and generally for speculative purposes. The production of counterfeits, electrotype copies, and restrikes is prompted by the same desire; they are incapable of filling breaks or gaps in a series, and must forever remain what they are, simple and unalterable make-shifts, if not intentional deceptions. The pieces restruck at the Paris mint, have of late years the word "Cuivre" or "Argent" incuse on the edge. This word is frequently rubbed down to remove the objectionable brand. In all cases the fact that a piece is a restrike should be clearly stated, that the purchaser may fully understand the character of the piece.

SCOTT STAMP AND COIN CO., L'D.

We have in preparation, for publication, a list of Counterfeit Coins and Medals, which have been included in collections sold at public auction, and catalogued as genuine, during the past year.
